BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

0001 This invention pertains to the field of useful endeavors which aids the wearing of decorative accessories

0002 The subject matter of the invention is a system to enlarge the length of a piece of jewelry to enable it to fit the potential wearer

0003 Necklaces vary in their length and their ability to pass over the potential wearer's head or around the potential wearer's neck

0004 When the necklaces are too small to pass over their head, some persons have a hard time fastening the necklace in the back of their neck and they choose not to wear the jewelry

0005 The invention allows a potential wearer to wear a necklace that the person otherwise would not wear

0006 The invention enables a person to extend a bracelet which they ordinarily could not faster

0007 The two halves of the extender are linked together and each half is hooked in the findings of a piece of jewelry which enlarges the piece of jewelry

BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

0001 When a person buys a piece of jewelry of a certain fixed length its ability to be worn by a potential wearer is determined

0002 This invention extends the length of linked chains so that the piece of jewelry is large enough to be worn around a potential wearer's neck when it is too small to pass over their head

0003 This invention extends a bracelet that is too small to fit the potential wearer's wrist or that the wearer cannot easily fasten with their other hand because the findings are so small

0004 The system of chains and different-sized findings creates extensions of the jewelry which enables its owner to wear a piece of jewelry that the person could not otherwise wear

0005 The object of the invention is to extend the number of chains in a piece of jewelry so that it becomes long enough to wear around the neck or wrist with ease

0006 The large finding makes opening or closing easier

0007 The system can be disconnected then used with another piece of jewelry.
